AN OVERVIEW OF THE FUNDS

Founded by a partnership of non-profit environmental advocacy organizations, the Green Century Funds (Green Century or the Funds) are an open-end, diversified, no-load family of environmentally conscious mutual funds. Green Century provides people who care about a clean, healthy planet the opportunity to use the clout of their investment dollars to encourage environmentally responsible corporate behavior. This prospectus describes the Green Century Balanced Fund and the Green Century Equity Fund.

The following is designed to help you decide whether the Green Century Funds are appropriate for you. Below you will find information about each Fund's investment objectives, strategies, risks, performance and fees.

What are the objectives of the Green Century Funds?

The Green Century Balanced Fund seeks capital growth and income from a diversified portfolio of stocks and bonds which meet Green Century's standards for corporate environmental responsibility.

The Green Century Equity Fund's objective is to achieve long-term total return which matches the performance of an index comprised of the stocks of 400 companies selected based on social and environmental criteria. The Equity Fund seeks to achieve its objective by investing in the stocks which make up the FTSE KLD400 Social Index.

What are the principal investment strategies?

The Green Century Balanced Fund invests primarily in the stocks and bonds of environmentally responsible and sustainable companies, many of which also make positive environmental contributions. There is no predetermined percentage of assets allocated to either stocks or bonds, although the Balanced Fund will generally invest at least 25% of its net assets in bonds and may not invest more than 75% of its net assets in stocks.

The Balanced Fund seeks to promote environmentally responsible corporate behavior, a cleaner environment and a sustainable economy by investing its assets in companies that the Fund's Adviser, Green Century Capital Management, believes are environmentally responsible. Such companies include, but are not limited to, those that:

- Demonstrate a commitment to preserving and enhancing the environment as evidenced by the products they make and the services they provide
- Strive to achieve clean environmental records and openly disclose their policies and performance on critical environmental criteria
- Make positive contributions toward actively promoting a healthier environmental future, including companies that produce renewable energy products and those that offer effective remedies for existing environmental problems
- Respond positively to shareholder advocacy on environmental issues

The Balanced Fund seeks to invest in environmentally distinguished companies, both large and small. The Fund may also invest in both growth and value stocks though it may be more heavily weighted in growth stocks. The bonds the Fund invests in may be of any maturity and are generally of investment grade credit quality, although the Fund may invest a portion of its net assets in high yield, below investment grade bonds, commonly known as junk bonds.

The Green Century Equity Fund invests in the stocks which make up the FTSE KLD400 Social Index (the KLD400 Index or the Index). The KLD400 Index is comprised of the common stocks of 400 companies. Large-cap U.S. companies (defined as companies with market capitalization of over $10 billion) make up the majority of the Index's composition. Companies for the KLD400 Index are selected based on a review of environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors; the Index includes those companies KLD Research & Analytics, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of RiskMetrics Group, Inc. (KLD), believes have the best overall sustainability records. KLD analyzes a company's commitment to sustainability across five key categories: environment; community and society; employees and supply chain; customers; and governance and ethics. In addition, certain industries may impose substantial risks and/or costs on society. Companies involved in these industries are evaluated based on their level of involvement as well as their social and environmental impact. Companies that KLD determines to have significant business involvement in the following industries will not be included in the Index: alcohol, tobacco, firearms, nuclear power, military weapons and gambling.

The weightings of the stocks are based on float-adjusted market capitalizations, which means the largest companies comprise a higher percentage of the KLD400 Index and the Index is more heavily weighted in large than in small companies. As of September 30, 2009, 80% of the market value of the investments of the Fund was large-cap companies. The Fund does not concentrate in a specific security or market sector.

Under normal circumstances and as a matter of operating policy, the Fund will invest at least 80% of its assets in equity securities. Although it is unlikely that the Fund will change this investment policy, the Fund will give its shareholders at least sixty days' prior notice of any change.

Are the Green Century Funds appropriate for me?

Before investing in the Funds, you should carefully consider your investment goals, your timeline for achieving your goals and your tolerance for risk.

The Green Century Balanced Fund may be appropriate if you want to be invested in the stock market for its long-term growth potential and also seek income from bond investments.

The Green Century Equity Fund may be a suitable investment choice if you are seeking long-term total return from a portfolio of stocks.

The Green Century Funds are not suitable if you are primarily seeking current income from investments, investing for a short period of time or are uncomfortable with the volatility of the stock market.

What are the risks?

Both Green Century Funds are heavily invested in stocks. Like all funds invested in stocks, each Green Century Fund's share price will fluctuate daily depending on the performance of the companies that comprise each Fund's investments, the general market and the economy overall. After you invest, the value of your shares may be less than what you paid for them. You may lose money by investing in the Funds. Also, as with any mutual fund, there can be no guarantee that either of the Green Century Funds will achieve its objective.

The Funds' environmental criteria and the Equity Fund's social and governance criteria limit the available investments compared with funds with no such criteria. Under certain economic conditions, this could cause each Fund's investment performance to be worse or better than similar funds with no such criteria.

The values of securities held by a Fund may fall due to general market conditions, such as real or perceived adverse economic, political, or regulatory conditions, inflation, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment. Adverse market conditions may be prolonged and may not have the same impact on all types of securities. The values of securities may fall due to factors affecting a particular issuer, industry or the securities market as a whole. Past global financial crises have caused significant declines in the value and liquidity of many securities, including some of the securities held by each of the Funds. A Fund may experience a substantial or complete loss on any individual security.

The Green Century Balanced Fund may be invested in small companies which involve greater risk than investing in the stocks of larger, more established companies. Small companies may lack the management experience, financial resources and product diversification of large companies and the frequency and volume of their trading may be less than that of larger companies. Therefore, the securities of small companies may be subject to wider and more erratic price fluctuations.

The Balanced Fund also has risks associated with investing in bonds. The Balanced Fund could lose money or underperform other investments if interest rates go up, causing the price of bonds and other fixed income securities to go down and reducing the value of the Fund's investments. When interest rates rise, repayments of fixed income securities, particularly asset- and mortgage-backed securities, may occur more slowly than anticipated, extending the effective duration of these fixed income securities and locking in below market interest rates. This may cause the Fund's share price to be more volatile. If an obligor (such as the issuer itself or a party offering credit enhancement) for a security held by the Fund fails to pay, otherwise defaults or is perceived to be less creditworthy, the security's credit rating is downgraded or the credit quality or value of any underlying assets declines, the value of your investment in the Fund could decline. The Fund could also underperform other investments during periods of declining interest rates, when the issuer of a security may exercise its option to prepay principal earlier than scheduled, forcing the Fund to reinvest in lower yielding securities. The Fund also may lose any premium it paid on a security. Prices of longer-term bonds generally increase or decrease more sharply than those of shorter-term bonds in response to interest rate changes. Some securities held by the Fund may be difficult to sell, or illiquid, particularly during times of market turmoil. Illiquid securities also may be difficult to value. The Fund's fixed income investments will be primarily invested in investment grade bonds; however, the Balanced Fund may also invest a portion of its net assets in high yield, below investment grade bonds. High yield bonds involve greater risk than investing in more highly rated bonds, including a greater risk of late payments, default or bankruptcy.

The Green Century Equity Fund invests essentially all of its assets in the stock market. As with all equity funds, the share price will fluctuate and may fall if the market as a whole declines or the value of the companies in which it invests falls. The large companies in which the Equity Fund's portfolio is invested may perform worse than the stock market as a whole. The Equity Fund will invest in the stocks composing the KLD400 Index regardless of how the KLD400 Index is performing. It will not shift concentration from one industry to another, or from stocks to bonds or cash, in order to defend against a falling stock market.

How have the Funds performed in the past?

The charts and table below provide some indication of the risks of investing in the Funds by illustrating that returns can differ from one year to the next and by comparing this information to broad measures of market performance. Each Fund's past performance is no guarantee of how it will perform in the future (before and after taxes).

* The Green Century Equity Fund, which commenced operations in September 1995, invested all its assets in an existing separate registered investment company which had the same investment objective as the Fund (the Domini Social Equity Trust) until November 28, 2006. Consistent with regulatory guidance, the performance for the period prior to the Fund's inception reflects the performance of the Domini Social Equity Trust adjusted to reflect the deduction of the charges and expenses of the Fund.

- (1) The after-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes, the effect of phaseouts of certain exemptions, deductions and credits at various income levels, or the impact of the federal alternative minimum tax. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown. After-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.
- (2) Each Fund's returns after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares set forth in the table assume a complete redemption at the end of the periods shown in the table and that the shareholder has sufficient capital gains of the same character from other investments to offset any capital losses from the redemption so that the shareholders may deduct the capital losses in full. In some cases, the return after taxes may exceed the return before taxes due to the assumed tax benefit from the deduction of capital losses.
- (3) The returns for the S&P 500[®] Index, the Lipper Intermediate Investment Grade Bond Index and the Lipper Balanced Fund Index do not reflect the deduction of fees, expenses, or taxes.

What fees and expenses will I pay?

The following table describes the fees and expenses you may pay if you buy and hold shares of the Green Century Funds.

- (1) If you redeem or exchange your shares within 60 days of purchase or acquisition through exchange, you will be charged a redemption fee equal to 2.00% of the net asset value of the shares redeemed or exchanged. However, the redemption fee will not apply to redemptions or exchanges of shares acquired through the reinvestment of dividends or distributions. There is no additional charge to have a check mailed to you. There is a $15 fee to have your check sent to you via overnight delivery. There is a $10 fee to have your redemption proceeds wired to your bank account.
- (2) Green Century Capital Management, Inc. (Green Century Capital Management), the administrator of each Fund, pays the operating expenses of the Funds (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage costs and other capital expenses and any extraordinary expenses). For this and other services, each Fund pays Green Century Capital Management an Administrative Fee at a rate such that the Equity Fund's total annual expenses are limited to 0.95% of the Equity Fund's average net assets and the Balanced Fund's total annual expenses are limited to 1.38% of the Balanced Fund's average net assets.

Example. This example is intended to help you compare the costs of investing in a Green Century Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example assumes that: (1) you invest $10,000 in a Fund; (2) you redeem all of your shares at the end of the periods shown; (3) you earn a 5% return each year; and (4) the operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Balanced Fund	$140	$437	$755	$1657
Equity Fund	$ 97	$303	$525	$1166

ENVIRONMENTALLY RESPONSIBLE INVESTING

Green Century Capital Management's mission is to promote corporate environmental responsibility and to foster a sustainable economy. The three-prong strategy to achieve these goals:

- Sponsor mutual funds which strive to invest in environmentally responsible and sustainable companies.
- Advocate for more environmentally responsible policies and practices at major corporations.
- Support the non-profit public interest and advocacy organizations that founded Green Century.

THE GREEN CENTURY FUNDS' ENVIRONMENTAL STANDARDS

Environmentally responsible investing is investing based on your financial goals and your environmental values. While each Green Century Fund shares a commitment to environmental responsibility, each Fund employs a different strategy. This section is dedicated to describing Green Century's environmentally responsible investment strategies.

The Green Century Balanced Fund seeks to promote environmentally responsible corporate behavior and a cleaner environment by investing in companies that the Fund's Adviser, Green Century Capital Management, believes are environmentally responsible and sustainable. Such companies include, but are not limited to, those that demonstrate a commitment to preserving and enhancing the environment as evidenced by the products they make and the services they provide and those companies that make positive contributions toward actively promoting a healthier environment and a sustainable future.

For both environmental and financial reasons, Green Century applies rigorous selection criteria concerning the environmental behavior of the companies in which the Fund invests. Green Century believes that well-managed environmentally responsible companies minimize their environmental risks, allowing them to enjoy competitive advantages from cost reductions, quality improvements, profitability enhancements and access to expanding and new growth markets. Further, Green Century believes that companies that are responsible towards the environment are more likely to act ethically and maintain the trust of their shareholders.

The Balanced Fund seeks to invest in companies that conduct their business in an environmentally responsible and sustainable manner. Such companies include those whose primary business involves the provision of an environmentally sound good or service, such as appropriate technology for sustainable agriculture, renewable energy, energy efficiency, water treatment and conservation, air pollution control, pollution prevention, recycling technologies, or other effective remedies for existing environmental problems. The Fund also invests in companies whose primary business is not solving environmental problems but which conduct their business in an environmentally responsible manner. Such companies are evaluated on a range of criteria that includes, but is not necessarily limited to, an assessment of each company's:

- Environmental performance indicators such as its consumption of natural resources, energy usage, greenhouse gas emissions, toxic emissions, use of toxic chemicals, and solid waste generation
- Pollution prevention programs and supply chain environmental policies
- Compliance with environmental laws and regulations and its potential environmental liabilities
- Environmental management infrastructure and governance procedures
- Public reporting on an annual basis of its environmental performance

The Balanced Fund also seeks to invest in what Green Century Capital Management regards as "best in its class" companies that have implemented an environmental program that sets a standard for their industry group. These companies are recognized leaders in their sectors, contribute to meaningful reductions in pollutant emissions or waste generation, and demonstrate Green Century's belief that every company potentially can make a positive contribution to an environmentally sustainable future.

Green Century believes that certain industries impose onerous costs on society and the planet; thus at various times the Balanced Fund may not be invested in any companies in industries Green Century believes threaten a sustainable global environment.

The Green Century Equity Fund invests in the 400 companies of the KLD400 Index. The Index is screened to include those companies with the best sustainability records. This strategy directs concerned investors' dollars away from companies that flout basic standards for environmental and social responsibility and towards companies that demonstrate a commitment to meeting the social and environmental needs of the present without compromising the quality of life of future generations. Green Century believes this creates an incentive for companies to become better corporate citizens.

Green Century also believes that those companies which pursue the least environmentally sound practices are at the greatest long term risk of negative economic consequences, while those which strive to be more environmentally responsible may benefit financially as a result. Enterprises which exhibit a social awareness should be better prepared to meet future societal needs for goods and services and may be less likely to incur certain legal liabilities that may be charged when a product or service is determined to be harmful or when the company itself behaves in an unethical manner. Green Century believes that over the long term such enterprises should be able to provide investors with a return that is competitive with enterprises that do not exhibit such social awareness.

In evaluating stocks for inclusion in the KLD400 Index, KLD applies an environmental, social and governance ratings framework that captures a company's sustainability performance by analyzing five key categories: environment; community and society; employees and supply chain; customers; and governance and ethics.

Environmental performance includes a company's record on waste disposal, toxic emissions, fines or penalties, and efforts in waste and emissions reductions, recycling, and use of environmentally beneficial fuels, products and services. Community and society criteria include a company's record on philanthropic activities and its interaction with the communities it affects including its relations with indigenous people. Employees and supply chain evaluations include a company's record with regard to labor matters, its commitment to workplace safety, the breadth, quality and innovation of its employee benefit programs, and its commitment to provide employees with a meaningful participation in company profits either through stock purchase or profit sharing plans. Customers criteria include a company's record on product quality and safety as well as innovation and meeting the needs of the economically disadvantaged. Finally, governance and ethics addresses executives' ability to manage the company in an exemplary and ethical manner. Certain industries may impose unique and onerous risks and/or costs on society. Companies involved in these industries are evaluated based on their level of involvement as well as their social and environmental impact. Therefore, companies that KLD determines to have significant business involvement in the following industries will not be included in the Index: alcohol, tobacco, firearms, nuclear power, military weapons and gambling. From time to time, KLD may, at its discretion, choose to apply additional criteria or to modify the application of the criteria described here.

The Green Century Funds. Neither the Green Century Balanced Fund nor the Green Century Equity Fund will knowingly invest in a company primarily engaged in the production of nuclear energy or the manufacture of nuclear equipment to produce nuclear energy or nuclear weapons, in the belief that these products are unacceptably threatening to a sustainable global environment. The Funds will not knowingly invest in a company primarily engaged in the manufacture of tobacco products, a major contributor to indoor air pollution and environmental health problems.

The Green Century Funds usually invest in many sectors of the economy, such as retail, finance, technology and consumer products. The Funds are not environmental sector funds which invest exclusively in companies whose business derives from environmental problems (such as waste-management or incinerator manufacturers), some of which have consistently negative environmental records.

ADVOCATES FOR CORPORATE ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSIBILITY

The Green Century Funds believe that shareholder advocacy is a critical component of environmentally responsible investing and are actively involved in advocating for greater corporate environmental accountability.

Green Century Capital Management advocates for more environmentally responsible policies at the companies in which the Funds invest, as well as at companies in which neither Fund has invested. Green Century has worked with other environmentally conscious investors to file shareholder resolutions to preserve and protect threatened ecosystems; demand more aggressive recycling programs; advocate for more responsible environmental, health and safety policies; and support more environmentally friendly production and purchasing policies. Green Century Capital Management is committed to pursuing demands for improved corporate environmental responsibility and to fostering a sustainable economy.

THE GREEN CENTURY FUNDS SUPPORT NOT-FOR-PROFIT ADVOCACY ORGANIZATIONS

The Green Century Funds were founded by non-profit environmental advocacy organizations. Unlike other investment advisers and administrators that are privately owned for the benefit of individuals or for-profit corporations, Green Century Capital Management is owned by Paradigm Partners, a California general partnership, the partners of which are all not-for-profit advocacy organizations. This means that 100% of the net profits earned by Green Century Capital Management on the fees it receives for managing the Funds belong to these not-for-profit advocacy organizations. These revenues will be used to support public interest campaigns, such as promoting energy conservation and the use of alternative energy, fighting for improved public transportation and public health protections, campaigning to reduce the use of toxic chemicals and to improve product and food safety, and advocating for ethics reform and corporate accountability. The organizations which founded and own Green Century Capital Management are: California Public Interest Research Group (CALPIRG), Citizen Lobby of New Jersey, Colorado Public Interest Research Group (COPIRG), ConnPIRG Citizen Lobby, Fund for the Public Interest, Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MASSPIRG), MOPIRG Citizen Organization, PIRGIM Public Interest Lobby, and Washington State Public Interest Research Group (WASHPIRG).

To exchange by letter, write to the Green Century Funds at the address given above, including the name of the Fund from which you are exchanging, the registered name(s) of ownership and address, the account number, the dollar amount or number of shares to be exchanged and the Fund into which you are exchanging. Sign your name(s) exactly as it appears on your account statement. The exchange requirements for corporations, other organizations, trusts, fiduciaries, institutional investors and retirement plans may be different from those for individual accounts. Please call 1-800-221-5519 for more information. The Funds reserve the right to modify or terminate the exchange privilege upon 60 days prior written notice to shareholders.

If you exchange your shares within 60 days of purchase or acquisition through exchange, you will be charged a redemption fee equal to 2.00% of the net asset value of the shares exchanged. However, the redemption fee will not apply to exchanges of shares acquired through the reinvestment of dividends or distributions. To calculate the redemption fees, a Fund will use the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method to determine which shares are being exchanged. Under this method, the date of exchange will be compared with the earliest date shares were acquired for the account. The Funds reserve the right to modify the terms of, or to terminate, the fee at any time.

Important Information About Redemptions

Minimum Balances Shareholders are encouraged to maintain a share balance of at least $2,500. Individual Retirement Accounts, Education Savings Accounts and Uniform Gifts or Transfers to Minors Act accounts have a $1,000 minimum balance requirement. The Funds reserve the right, following 60 days' written notice to shareholders, to redeem all shares in accounts with balances less than the minimum. The Funds will mail the proceeds of the redeemed account to the shareholder. This provision does not apply to Automatic Investment Plan accounts. If the value of your account falls below the minimum as a result of market activity, an involuntary redemption will not be triggered.

Redemption Fee If you redeem your shares within 60 days of purchase or acquisition through exchange, you will be charged a redemption fee equal to 2.00% of the net asset value of the shares redeemed. However, the redemption fee will not apply to redemptions of shares acquired through the reinvestment of dividends or distributions. The fee is charged for the benefit of remaining shareholders and will be paid to the Fund to help offset transaction costs the Fund may incur due to excess short-term trading in the Fund. To calculate the redemption fees, a Fund will use the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method to determine which shares are being redeemed. Under this method, the date of redemption or exchange will be compared with the earliest date shares were acquired for the account. The Funds reserve the right to modify the terms of, or to terminate, the fee at any time.

In some cases, the Funds may be offered through certain financial intermediaries whose redemption fee policies may differ from those of the Funds. If you purchase Fund shares through a financial intermediary, please contact the intermediary regarding its policies on redemption fees and market timing.

Signature Guarantees

A signature guarantee—which is different from a notarized signature—is a warranty that the signature presented is genuine. You can obtain a signature guarantee from most banks, brokerage firms and savings institutions where you have an account. Be sure to ask for a “New Technology” Medallion Signature Guarantee Stamp. A notary public cannot provide a signature guarantee. A signature guarantee may be required for the signature of each person in whose name the account is registered.

You must obtain a signature guarantee in any of the following situations:

- You request in writing a redemption of $10,000 or more
- You request a redemption check payable to someone other than the account owner(s)
- You request that a redemption check be sent to an address other than the address of record on the account
- You request a redemption and you have changed your address of record within the last 30 days
- You request a wire or electronic funds transfer to a bank account other than the bank account of record on the account
- Any change to account ownership or registration
- Adding or changing the bank account of record for the account
- Authorizing telephone redemption, if not already authorized on the account

Green Century reserves the right to require a signature guarantee in other situations as well.

Other Account Types

The redemption requirements for corporations, other organizations, trusts, fiduciaries, institutional investors and Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) may be different from those for regular accounts. For more information please call 1-800-221-5519.

TRANSACTION INFORMATION

Purchases by Check. Checks must be made payable to the Green Century Balanced Fund or the Green Century Equity Fund (or to the Green Century Funds). No third party checks will be honored. Checks also must be drawn on or payable through a U.S. bank and be in U.S. dollars. No cash deposits, travelers checks, credit card checks, money orders or counter checks will be accepted. Cashier's checks will be accepted only for amounts over $10,000. If you purchase shares with a check that is returned due to insufficient funds, your purchase will be canceled and you will be responsible for any losses or fees incurred in the transaction.

Customer Identification Verification Procedures. Federal law requires all financial institutions, including the Green Century Funds, to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. In order to open a new account, the Funds will ask you for your name, street address, date of birth, and Social Security or Tax Identification Number. If the Funds or their Transfer Agent do not have a reasonable belief as to the identity of a customer, the account may be rejected or the shareholder may be blocked from conducting further transactions on the account in accordance with applicable law until such information is received in good order. The Funds also reserve the right to close an account within 20 business days of the date the account was opened at the net asset value of the Fund on the day the account is closed if clarifying information or documentation as to the identity of the shareholder is not received. The Funds further reserve the right to close an account if, in the opinion of the Funds or their Transfer Agent, the account is suspected of being opened for fraud or money laundering purposes. The Funds or their Transfer Agent will correspond with the prospective shareholders advising them of the reasons their account has been rejected and what, if any, information as required by the USA PATRIOT Act is necessary to allow the account to be accepted.

Account Information Changes. To change the address on an account, you may call the Green Century shareholder services office at 1-800-221-5519 or send Green Century the information in writing as described below. To change any other information regarding an account (including a change of beneficiary or change in the automatic investment plan), you must send Green Century this information in writing. Please mail the new information to: Green Century Funds, P.O. Box 6110, Indianapolis, IN 46206-6110. Include your Green Century account number, your name, address, signature and phone number, along with the new information. If you prefer, you may fax this information to: Green Century Funds, 317-266-8756. You may confirm receipt of this information by calling the Green Century shareholders services office at 1-800-221-5519.

Please note that the following account information changes require a signature guarantee:

- Any change to account ownership or registration
- Adding or changing the bank account of record for the account
- Authorizing telephone redemption, if not already authorized on the account

Green Century reserves the right to require a signature guarantee in other situations. For more information about signature guarantees, see Signature Guarantees on page 16.

Joint Accounts. The Funds' policy on the rights of joint account owners provides that any account owner has the authority to act on the account without notice to the other account owner(s). An exception to this policy is for some corporate accounts for which two signatures are explicitly required per written instructions on file for the account. In addition, the Funds, at their sole discretion and for their protection and that of other shareholders, may require the written consent of all account owners prior to acting upon the instructions of any account owner.

Large Redemptions. If during any 90-day period, you redeem Fund shares worth more than $250,000 (or 1% of a Fund's assets if that percentage is less than $250,000), the Funds reserve the right to pay all or part of the redemption proceeds in-kind, that is, in securities rather than in cash. If payment is made in-kind, you may incur brokerage commissions if you elect to sell the securities for cash.

Confirmation of Transactions. All purchases and redemptions will be confirmed promptly. Usually a confirmation of your purchase or sale of Fund shares will be mailed by the second business day following receipt of your instructions.

Share Price Calculation. Once each day that the New York Stock Exchange is open for trading, the share price for each Fund is calculated. This is the Fund's Net Asset Value (the NAV). Because the Green Century Funds are no-load, this is also the offering price at which each Fund share is sold. Shares are purchased and/or sold at the next share price calculated after your order is received in good form.

All purchase and redemption requests received in good order by the Funds' transfer agent are executed, without a sales charge, at the next-determined net asset value. Reinvested dividends receive the net asset value as of the ex-dividend date. Note however that if you redeem shares within 60 days of purchase, a 2.00% redemption fee will be charged. For additional information, see How to Sell Shares (Redemptions) on page 14.

Processing Time. When you redeem, the Funds will normally send your redemption proceeds on the next day the New York Stock Exchange is open for trading following the receipt of your redemption request in good order, but may take up to seven days, or longer in the following cases:

Shares Recently Purchased By Check. If you purchase shares by check and redeem them by any method within 10 days of purchase, the Funds will release your redemption proceeds when your check clears. It is possible, although unlikely, that this could take up to 10 days. If you purchase shares by Federal funds wire, you may avoid this delay.

Shares Recently Purchased by Cashier's Check. If you purchase shares by a cashier's check, the Funds will hold your redemption proceeds for fifteen business days following the purchase.

Shares Purchased by Wire. If you open an account by wire, the Funds' transfer agent will not be able to process a redemption request until it has received your completed and signed registration form.

Tax Information. A redemption of shares, including an exchange into another Fund, is a sale of shares and may result in a gain or loss for income tax purposes. Please see below for additional information on Dividends and Taxes.

Social Security or Tax Identification Number. Please complete the Social Security or Tax Identification Number section of the Funds' registration form when you open an account. Federal tax law requires the Funds to withhold 28% of taxable dividends, capital gains distributions and redemption and exchange proceeds from accounts (other than those of certain exempt payees) without a Social Security or Tax Identification Number and certain other information or upon notification from the Internal Revenue Service or a broker that withholding is required. The Funds reserve the right to reject new account registrations without a Social Security or Tax Identification Number. The Funds also reserve the right to close, by redemption, accounts without Social Security or Tax Identification Numbers.

Telephone Transaction Liability. All shareholders may initiate transactions (except redemptions) by telephone. To redeem shares by telephone, you must elect this option in writing. See page 14 for further information. Neither the Funds nor any of their service contractors will be liable for any loss or expense in acting upon any telephone instructions that are reasonably believed to be genuine. In attempting to confirm that telephone instructions are genuine, the Funds will use procedures that are considered to be reasonable, including requesting a shareholder to provide information about the account. To the extent that the Funds fail to use reasonable procedures to verify the genuineness of telephone instructions, the Funds and/or their service contractors may be liable for any losses due to telephone instructions that prove to be fraudulent or unauthorized.

Policy on Market Timing. Frequent purchases, exchanges and redemptions of Fund shares (often referred to as market timing or short-term trading) may hurt Fund performance by disrupting the management of the Fund's portfolio and by increasing expenses. The Funds seek to discourage market timing and protect long-term shareholders through several methods. Pursuant to policies and procedures adopted by the Funds' Board of Trustees, these methods include:

- imposing a 2.00% redemption fee on the redemption or exchange of shares held less than sixty days (for more information on the redemption fee, see page 15);
- using "fair value" pricing when appropriate so that an investor cannot purchase, redeem or exchange Fund shares at a price that does not reflect the fair value of a Fund's portfolio;
- monitoring shareholder account activity in order to detect patterns of frequent purchases, exchanges and sales, including those that appear to be made in response to short-term fluctuations in share price or in order to improperly avoid the imposition of the redemption fee; and
- reserving the right to restrict or reject, limit, delay, or impose other conditions on, any exchange or purchase or to close a shareholder account based on a suspected history of market timing or if any particular transaction may adversely affect the interests of a Fund or its shareholders.

The Funds and Green Century Capital Management seek to apply the above fees and restrictions uniformly and will not waive them for any account. Neither the Funds nor Green Century Capital Management will enter into any arrangements to permit market timing in the shares of the Funds.

The Funds may not know the identity of shareholders in omnibus accounts and must rely on the assistance of the financial intermediary in whose name the account is held (a broker-dealer or retirement plan, for example). The Funds and/or their distributor or administrator, as appropriate and in accordance with applicable law, has entered into agreements with financial intermediaries requiring the intermediaries to collect the redemption fee and to provide certain information to help identify market timing activity and to prohibit further purchases or exchanges by a shareholder identified as having engaged in market timing. Because the Funds may not be able to detect all instances of market timing, particularly in omnibus accounts and where an investor may attempt to conceal its identity, the Funds cannot guarantee that they will be able to deter all instances of market timing or entirely eliminate short-term trading in shares of the Funds.

Reservations. Each Fund may stop offering its shares for sale at any time and may reject any order for the purchase or exchange of shares. Each Fund may also modify the conditions of purchase at any time. Each Fund reserves the right to waive the minimum investment requirements; accounts opened with less than the minimum required amount may be subject to the minimum balances provisions. (See page 15). Each Fund reserves the right to revise or terminate the telephone redemption privilege at any time, without notice. If a Fund suspends telephone redemption privileges, or if you have trouble getting through on the phone, you will still be able to redeem your shares by mail.

SHAREHOLDER ACCOUNT STATEMENTS

Shareholders will receive quarterly statements showing all account activity during that quarter, including dividends. Additional purchases and redemptions will be confirmed promptly, usually by the second business day after the purchase or redemption request is received. The Green Century Funds will send you detailed tax information on the amount and type of their dividends and distributions each year.

HOUSEHOLDING OF THE FUNDS' MAILINGS TO ACCOUNTS HELD THROUGH FINANCIAL INTERMEDIARIES

For accounts held through financial intermediaries: To reduce expenses, the Funds may mail only one copy of the Funds' Prospectus, each Annual and Semi-Annual Report and other regulatory documents to addresses at which two or more accounts are registered. If you wish to receive individual copies of these documents, please telephone 1-800-542-1061 or contact your financial institution. The Funds will begin sending you individual copies thirty days after receiving your request.

DIVIDENDS AND TAXES

The Funds normally declare and pay income dividends, if any, semi-annually in June and December and distribute net capital gains, if any, once a year in December. Each Fund intends to distribute substantially all of its income and net capital gains.

You may opt to receive distributions in cash (via check) or have them reinvested in additional shares of the Funds. Dividends and capital gain distributions are automatically reinvested unless you request otherwise. If you invest in an Individual Retirement Account (IRA), all dividends and capital gains distributions must be reinvested; however, if you are over 59½ years old, distributions from IRA accounts may be paid to you in cash (via check).

The following discussion is very general. You may wish to consult a tax adviser regarding the effect that an investment in a Fund may have on your own tax situation.

Taxability of Distributions. As long as a Fund qualifies for treatment as a regulated investment company (which each has in the past and intends to do in the future), it pays no federal income tax on the earnings it distributes to shareholders.

Unless you hold your shares in a tax-exempt account (including a retirement account such as an IRA) you will normally have to pay federal income taxes, and any state or local taxes, on distributions you receive from a Fund, whether you take the distributions in cash or have them reinvested in additional shares. For taxable years beginning before January 1, 2011, non-corporate shareholders may be taxed at reduced rates on distributions designated by a Fund as "qualified dividend income". "Qualified dividend income" generally is income derived from U.S. corporations or certain foreign corporations that are either incorporated in a U.S. possession or eligible for benefits under certain U.S. income tax treaties. In addition, dividends that a Fund receives in respect of stock of certain foreign corporations will be "qualified dividend income" if that stock is readily tradable on an established U.S. securities market. Distributions designated as capital gain dividends are taxable as long-term capital gains without regard to the length of time you have held your shares. Other distributions are generally taxable as ordinary income. Distributions derived from interest on U.S. Government securities (but not distributions of gain from the sale of such securities) may be exempt from state and local taxes. Some dividends paid in January may be taxable as if they had been paid the previous December. A portion of dividends received from a Fund (but none of a Fund's capital gain dividends) may qualify for the dividends-received deduction for corporate shareholders.

After the end of each year, the Green Century Funds will send you detailed tax information on the amount and type of distributions and dividends you received during that year.

Distributions by a Fund will reduce that Fund's net asset value per share. Therefore, if you buy shares shortly before the record date of a distribution, you may pay the full price for the shares and then effectively receive a portion of the purchase price back as a taxable distribution.

If you are neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States, each Fund will withhold U.S. federal income tax at the rate of 30% on taxable dividends and other payments that are subject to such withholding. You may be able to arrange for a lower withholding rate under an applicable tax treaty if you supply the appropriate documentation required by the applicable Fund. For Fund taxable years beginning in 2009 and 2010, the 30% withholding tax will not apply to dividends that a Fund designates as (a) interest-related dividends, to the extent such dividends are derived from a Fund's "qualified net interest income," or (b) short-term capital gain dividends, to the extent such dividends are derived from a Fund's "qualified short-term gain." "Qualified net interest income" is a Fund's net income derived from U.S.-source interest and original issue discount, subject to certain exceptions and limitations. "Qualified short-term gain" generally means the excess of the net short-term capital gain of a Fund for the taxable year over its net long-term capital loss, if any. Each Fund is also required in certain circumstances to apply backup withholding at a current rate of 28% on dividends, redemption proceeds and certain other payments that are paid to any shareholder (including a shareholder who is neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States) who does not furnish to the Fund certain information and certifications or who is otherwise subject to backup withholding. Backup withholding will not, however, be applied to payments that have been subject to the 30% withholding tax on shareholders who are neither citizens nor residents of the United States.

Prospective investors in a Fund should read that Fund's account registration form for additional information regarding backup withholding of federal income tax.

Taxability of Transactions. When you redeem, sell or exchange shares, it is generally considered a taxable event for you. Depending on the purchase price and the sale price of the shares you redeem, sell or exchange, you may have a gain or loss on the transaction. You are responsible for any tax liabilities generated by your transactions.

VALUATION OF SHARES

The net asset value per share of each Green Century Fund is computed by dividing the value of each Fund's total assets, less its liabilities, by the total number of shares outstanding.

To determine the value of its assets, each Fund typically uses the current market price of the securities it holds. When a market price is not available, or when a Fund has reason to believe that the price does not reflect market realities, the Fund may value securities instead by using methods approved by the Board of Trustees. In such a case, a Fund's value for a security may be different from quoted market values. Because the Green Century Balanced Fund invests primarily in the stocks and bonds of U.S. companies that are traded on U.S.

exchanges and the Equity Fund invests primarily in the stocks of U.S. companies that are traded on U.S. exchanges, it is expected that there would be limited circumstances in which a Fund would use fair value pricing. A Fund may use fair value pricing if, for example, the exchange on which a portfolio security is principally traded closes early, trading in a particular security is halted during the day and does not resume prior to the time a Fund calculates its NAV, a portfolio security is thinly traded or a security's issuer is in default or bankruptcy proceedings.

The net asset value per share of each Fund is determined every business day as of the close of regular trading of the New York Stock Exchange (usually 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time). For share prices 24 hours a day, call 1-800-221-5519.

SHARES AND VOTING RIGHTS

As with other mutual funds, investors purchase shares when they invest money in a Fund. Each share and fractional share entitles the shareholder to:

- Receive a proportional interest in a Fund's income and capital gain distributions
- Cast one vote for each dollar of net asset value (number of shares owned times net asset value per share) represented by a shareholder's shares in a Fund on certain Fund matters, including the election of the Funds' trustees and changes in fundamental policies.

The Funds are not required to hold annual meetings and, to avoid unnecessary costs, do not intend to do so except when certain matters, such as a change in its fundamental policies, must be decided. If a meeting is held and you cannot attend, you may vote by proxy. Before the meeting, the Funds will send you proxy materials that explain the issues to be decided and include instructions on voting.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE FUNDS' INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES, STRATEGIES AND RISKS

This section provides a detailed description of the Funds' investment objectives, strategies and risks. The Statement of Additional Information provides further information regarding the investment objectives, policies and risk factors of the Funds.

THE GREEN CENTURY BALANCED FUND

The Green Century Balanced Fund's investment objective is to provide capital growth and income from a diversified portfolio of stocks and bonds which meet the Fund's standards for corporate environmental responsibility.

In determining equity investments for the Balanced Fund, the Fund's Subadviser uses a "growth at a reasonable price" investing style. The Fund invests in the common stock of companies, across a range of capitalizations, that the Subadviser believes have superior earnings growth prospects and whose stock prices, in the Subadviser's opinion, do not accurately reflect the companies' value. The Balanced Fund may also invest in companies that the Subadviser believes do not have particularly strong earnings histories, but do have other attributes that may contribute to accelerating growth in the foreseeable future.

The Subadviser's equity investment process begins with an economic and environmental analysis of a universe of approximately 5000 publicly traded companies. From this universe, the Subadviser primarily selects stocks of companies that it believes make a positive contribution to an environmentally sustainable future based on the Fund's environmental criteria. Stocks are then considered for the Fund's portfolio only after the Subadviser performs a rigorous financial analysis.

The Subadviser uses multi-factor proprietary models that consider a variety of quantitative measures, including price/earnings and price/cash flow ratios, to rank the stocks by sector based on value, growth potential, and expected price volatility. The Subadviser uses these quantitative measurements in combination with in-house and third-party research to identify companies that appear to possess superior earnings growth prospects and whose stock prices, in the Subadviser's opinion, do not accurately reflect the companies' value. The Subadviser then focuses on those companies that, over a period of several years, appear to have the ability to grow at above average rates within their industries. The Subadviser then selects stocks considering diversification by sector and expected risk and attractiveness of valuation relative to prospective return. The Subadviser believes that portfolio turnover should be managed carefully.

The Subadviser monitors the companies in the Balanced Fund's portfolio to determine if there have been any fundamental changes in the companies or changes in the companies' environmental records and policies. The Subadviser also regularly analyzes price/earnings ratios, price/cash flow ratios, and other quantitative measures to monitor stock price movements and help determine whether to sell a stock in the Fund's portfolio. The Subadviser may sell a stock if, among other factors:

- It subsequently fails to meet the Fund's investment criteria or becomes overvalued relative to the long-term expectation for its stock price
- The balance between the stock's expected return and its contribution to the risk of the portfolio deteriorates or a more attractively priced company is identified

- Changes in national economic conditions, such as interest rates, unemployment, and productivity levels, prompt a change in industry sector allocation for the Fund's portfolio
- The company's positive environmental attributes turn negative and dialogue and shareholder engagement fail to change the company's policies

The Balanced Fund may maintain a de minimis position in a stock following the Subadviser's decision to sell the holding when Green Century Capital Management is advocating for improved corporate environmental policies at the company.

In general, fixed income securities are included in the Fund's portfolio to modulate the Fund's overall level of investment risk and exposure to business, economic, and interest rate trends. Fixed income investments are evaluated using the same environmental criteria as those employed for equity investments. Issuer-specific financial evaluation of fixed income investments focuses on a company's cash flow, interest rate coverage, and other measures of its ability to meet its future income and principal repayment commitments. In addition, each fixed income investment is evaluated with respect to its credit quality and its overall exposure to interest rate risk.

The Balanced Fund's assets may be invested in: domestic and foreign common stock, preferred stock and other equity securities, exchange traded funds, bonds and other fixed income securities, Certificates of Deposit, promissory notes, floating rate obligations, and money market instruments, in each case, compatible with the Fund's commitment to environmental responsibility. The other fixed income securities in which the Fund may invest include: U.S. Government securities, mortgage-backed securities, and zero coupon securities. The Fund may also engage in writing and purchasing options on portfolio securities. The Fund may invest in equity index and bond futures in an effort to reduce risk or increase market exposure, but not to create exposure greater than the value of underlying assets held in the Fund. There is no predetermined percentage of assets allocated to either stocks or bonds, although the Balanced Fund will generally invest at least 25% of its net assets in fixed income securities (bonds). The Fund may not invest more than 75% of its net assets in equity securities (stocks). For temporary defensive purposes, the Fund may invest up to 100% of its assets in cash and other money market and short-term instruments. Any such temporary defensive investing will also comply with the Fund's environmental criteria. The effect of taking such a position is that the Fund may not achieve its investment objective.

Zero Coupon Securities. The Balanced Fund may invest in zero coupon securities which do not make regular interest payments; rather, they are sold at a discount from face value. Principal and accrued discount (representing interest accrued but not paid) are paid at maturity. Zero coupon securities are subject to greater market value fluctuations from changing interest rates than debt obligations of comparable maturities which make current cash distributions of interest.

High Yield Debt Securities. The Balanced Fund may invest up to 35% of its net assets in high yield, below investment grade bonds, commonly known as junk bonds. Below investment grade securities are securities that, at the time of the investment, are either rated below Baa by Moody's or, if not rated, considered to be of equivalent quality by the Subadviser of the Balanced Fund. The Statement of Additional Information provides a description of bond rating categories. As of July 31, 2009, 1.9% of the net assets of the Balanced Fund were invested in below investment grade securities as rated by Moody's. Trillium, the subadviser to the Balanced Fund, intends to, but is not required to, limit the proportion of below investment grade securities to no more than 15% of the Fund's net assets.

While these securities generally offer higher yields than investment grade securities with similar maturities, lower-quality securities involve greater risks, including the possibility of default or bankruptcy. Generally, they are considered to be predominantly speculative regarding, and more dependent on, the issuer's ability to pay interest and repay principal. Such inability (or perceived inability) would likely lessen the value of such securities, which could lower the Fund's net asset value per share. Issuers of high-yield securities may not be as strong financially as those issuing bonds with higher credit ratings. Other potential risks associated with investing in high-yield securities include: heightened sensitivity of highly-leveraged issuers to adverse economic changes and individual-issuer developments; subordination to the prior claims of other creditors; adverse publicity and changing investor perceptions about these securities; and generally less liquid markets. The Fund may incur additional expenses to the extent that it is required to seek recovery upon a default in the payment of principal and interest on its holdings. A holder of securities that are subordinated or "junior" to more senior securities of an issuer is entitled to payment after holders of more senior securities of the issuer. As a result, subordinated securities will be disproportionately adversely affected by a default or even a perceived decline in creditworthiness of the issuer, or, in the case of a pooled investment, issuers of underlying obligations. Because of the associated risks, successful investments in high-yield, high-risk securities are more dependent on the Subadviser's credit analysis than generally would be the case with investments in investment grade securities.

Many corporate high yield bonds are issued pursuant to Rule 144A under the Securities Act of 1933 and therefore are subject to the Fund's restriction that no more than 15% of the Fund's net assets can be invested in illiquid securities.

U.S. Government Securities. The Balanced Fund may invest in U.S. government securities. U.S. government securities include obligations: directly issued by or supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government, like Treasury bills, notes and bonds and Government National Mortgage Association certificates; supported by the right of the issuer to borrow from the U.S. Treasury, like those of the Federal Home Loan Banks; supported by the discretionary authority of the U.S. government to purchase the agency's securities like those of the Federal National Mortgage Association; or supported only by the credit of the issuer itself, like the Tennessee Valley Authority. The U.S. government recently provided financial support to the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, but there can be no assurance that it will support these or other government-sponsored enterprises in the future.

Mortgage-Backed Securities. The Balanced Fund may invest in mortgage-backed securities. Mortgage-related securities may be issued by private companies or by agencies of the U.S. government and represent direct or indirect participation in, or are collateralized by and payable from, mortgage loans secured by real property. Unlike mortgage-related securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government or its agencies and instrumentalities, mortgage-related securities issued by private issuers do not have a government or government-sponsored entity guarantee (but may have other credit enhancement), and may, and frequently do, have less favorable collateral, credit risk or other underwriting characteristics.

Risks of Mortgage-Backed Securities. Mortgage-related securities are subject to special risks. The repayment of certain mortgage-related securities depends primarily on the cash collections received from the issuer's underlying asset portfolio and, in certain cases, the issuer's ability to issue replacement securities (such as asset-backed commercial paper). As a result, there could be losses to the Balanced Fund in the event of credit or market value deterioration in the issuer's underlying portfolio, mismatches in the timing of the cash flows of the underlying asset interests and the repayment obligations of maturing securities, or the issuer's inability to issue new or replacement securities. This is also true for other asset-backed securities. Upon the occurrence of certain triggering events or defaults, the investors in a security held by the Balanced Fund may become the holders of underlying assets at a time when those assets may be difficult to sell or may be sold only at a loss. In the event of a default, the value of the underlying collateral may be insufficient to pay certain expenses, such as litigation and foreclosure expenses. Certain debt instruments may pay principal only at maturity or may represent only the right to receive payments of principal or interest on the underlying obligations, but not both. The value of these types of instruments may change more drastically than debt securities that pay both principal and interest during periods of changing interest rates. Principal only instruments generally increase in value if interest rates decline, but are also subject to the risk of prepayment. Interest only instruments generally increase in value in a rising interest rate environment when fewer of the underlying obligations are prepaid, but remain subject to prepayment risk, which would be a loss of any expected interest payments, even though there is no default on the underlying financial asset.

THE GREEN CENTURY EQUITY FUND

The Green Century Equity Fund's investment objective is to achieve long-term total return which matches the performance of the KLD400 Index, an index of stocks of 400 companies selected by using environmental, social and corporate governance factors.

The Equity Fund invests substantially all of its assets in the common stocks comprising the KLD400 Index, developed and maintained by KLD. The Equity Fund invests in the common stocks of approximately 400 companies and seeks to include corporations with the best overall sustainability records. In constructing the KLD400 Index, KLD evaluates a company's sustainability performance based on environmental, social and corporate governance factors. KLD also seeks to maintain broad sector representation. The weightings of the stocks comprising the Index are based upon float-adjusted market capitalization. To keep portfolio turnover low and to more accurately reflect the performance of the market, the KLD400 Index is maintained using a "buy and hold" strategy. KLD may however remove a company from the Index if it has been acquired by another company, if it is no longer financially viable, or because its environmental, social and/or governance performance has deteriorated. The criteria used in developing and maintaining the Index involve subjective judgment by KLD. The Equity Fund is not managed in the traditional investment sense, since changes in the composition of its securities holdings are made in order to track the changes in the composition of securities included in the KLD400 Index.

The Equity Fund may invest cash reserves in high quality short-term debt securities issued by agencies or instrumentalities of the United States Government, bankers' acceptances, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, bank deposits or repurchase agreements provided that the issuer satisfies KLD's social criteria. The Equity Fund's policy is to hold its assets in such securities pending readjustment of its holdings of stocks comprising the KLD400 Index and in order to meet anticipated redemption requests. The Equity Fund may also invest in such securities for temporary defensive purposes. This may adversely affect the Equity Fund's performance.

The Equity Fund buys and sells stocks periodically so that its holdings will correspond, to the extent reasonably practicable, to the KLD400 Index. The timing and extent of adjustments in the holdings of the Equity Fund, and the extent of the correlation of the holdings of the Equity Fund with the KLD400 Index, reflects the judgment of the Equity Fund's subadvisor as to the appropriate balance between the goal of correlating the holdings of the Equity Fund with the composition of the KLD400 Index, and the goals of minimizing transaction costs and keeping sufficient reserves available for anticipated redemptions from the Equity Fund. To the extent practicable, the Equity Fund will seek a correlation between the weightings of securities held by the Equity Fund and the weightings of the securities in the KLD400 Index of 0.95 or better. A figure of 1.00 would indicate a perfect correlation. The Equity Fund's ability to duplicate the performance of the KLD400 Index will depend to some extent on the size and timing of cash flows into and out of the Equity Fund as well as the Equity Fund's expenses.

THE GREEN CENTURY FUNDS

Repurchase Agreements. As a means of earning income for periods as short as overnight, each Fund may enter into repurchase agreements with selected banks and broker-dealers. Under a repurchase agreement, a Fund acquires securities, subject to the seller's agreement to repurchase at a specified time and price. There may be delays and risks of loss if the seller is unable to meet its obligation to repurchase. Default by the seller would expose a Fund to possible loss because of adverse market action or delay in connection with the disposition of the underlying obligations.

Foreign Securities. While both Funds emphasize investment in U.S. companies, they may also invest in foreign securities. The Balanced Fund may invest up to 25% of its assets in foreign securities of the same types as the domestic securities in which the Fund may invest. The Funds may also invest in American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs") and the Balanced Fund may invest in Global Depositary Receipts ("GDRs") with respect to such foreign securities. The Balanced Fund may also invest in certificates of deposit issued by foreign banks, foreign and domestic branches of U.S. banks, obligations issued or guaranteed by foreign governments or political subdivisions thereof, and corporate bonds denominated in dollars but issued by foreign companies.

Such investments increase a portfolio's diversification and may enhance return, but they also involve some special risks, such as exposure to potentially adverse local political and economic developments; nationalization and exchange controls; potentially lower liquidity and higher volatility; possible problems arising from accounting, disclosure, settlement, and regulatory practices that differ from U.S. standards; and the chance that fluctuations in foreign exchange rates will decrease the investment's value (favorable changes can increase its value). Any foreign investments must be made in compliance with U.S. and foreign currency restrictions and tax laws restricting the amounts and types of foreign investments.

Portfolio Turnover. Purchases and sales are made for a portfolio whenever necessary, in management's opinion, to meet its investment objective. Higher levels of activity result in higher transaction costs and may also result in higher taxable capital gains distributions to shareholders. The Balanced Fund's portfolio turnover rate for the fiscal years ended July 31, 2007, 2008 and 2009 were 35%, 44% and 33% respectively.

Frequent changes in the Equity Fund's holdings may result from the policy of attempting to correlate the Equity Fund's securities holdings with the composition of the KLD400 Index. The portfolio turnover rate of the Domini Social Equity Trust (the Fund in which, prior to November 28, 2006, the Equity Fund invested all of its investable assets) from August 1, 2006 to November 27, 2006 was 1%. The portfolio turnover rate of the Equity Fund from November 28, 2006 to July 31, 2007 was 8%. The portfolio turnover rate of the Equity Fund for the fiscal years ended July 31, 2008 and 2009 were 6% and 23%, respectively.

Investment Restrictions. As a matter of fundamental investment policy which cannot be changed without shareholder approval, no more than 25% of the value of each Fund's assets may be invested in any one industry (excluding U.S. Government securities) although the Equity Fund may and would invest more than 25% of its assets in an industry if stocks in that industry were to comprise more than 25% of the KLD400

Index. An industry must represent 25% or more of the KLD400 Index before the Equity Fund may invest more than 25% of its assets in that industry. If the Equity Fund were to concentrate its investments in a single industry, the Equity Fund would be more susceptible to risks associated with that industry than would a fund which was not so concentrated. In addition, as a matter of fundamental policy, the Equity Fund will invest all of its assets in one or more of: (i) stocks comprising an index of securities selected applying social and environmental criteria (currently the KLD400 Index), (ii) short-term debt securities of issuers which meet social criteria, (iii) cash, and (iv) options on equity securities. These fundamental policies cannot be changed without the approval of the holders of a “majority of the outstanding voting securities” (as defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended) of the Funds. For further information on fundamental and non-fundamental policies and restrictions, see the Statement of Additional Information.

The investment objective of the Balanced Fund is not fundamental and may be changed without the approval of the shareholders. The investment objective of the Equity Fund also is not fundamental and may be changed without the approval of the shareholders or investors if written notice is provided to shareholders thirty days prior to implementing the change. Because of the risks inherent in all investments, there can be no assurance that the objectives of the Funds will be met. Except as stated otherwise, all investment guidelines, policies and restrictions described here and in the Statement of Additional Information are non-fundamental.

Portfolio Holdings Disclosure. The Funds have adopted policies and procedures which govern the timing and circumstances of disclosure to shareholders and third parties of information regarding the portfolio investments held by each of the Funds. The Policies and Procedures for the Disclosure of the Green Century Funds’ Portfolio Holdings is included in the Statement of Additional Information.
